3. To offer students an opportunity where they can participate in interactive lectures, workshops, and displays that emphasize the numerous facets of millet production, processing, and preparation.
4. It seeks to encourage a sense of responsibility towards the environment and promote sustainable agricultural methods in order to encourage students to actively participate in the festival. The Millet Festival's ultimate goal is to encourage and equip students to support millets in their communities and spread the word regarding their many advantages.

Summary

In an attempt to gain knowledge, to the students of Tula's Institute, Dehradun, Institute had organised an educational trip to millet festival (Shri Ann Mahotsav) for B.Sc. Agriculture 1-year, B.Sc. 2- year and B.Sc. Agriculture 3rd year students. The students visited "Millet Festival Survey Ground, Hathibadkala, Dehradun" which has become the identity of Dehradun in all over India. Students visited different stalls, wonderfull session by agriuculture minister and Special millet exhibition. The educational trip commenced from 10:30AM to 02:30 PM on 15-16 May 2023. and a total of 115 students have been accompanied in this trip. Students along with their faculties namely Dr. Rupinder kaur, Mr. Anikesh Sharma, Mr. Pankaj Singh Negi, Ms Bhawana Gahtori and Ms. Rupali kausik from Tula's Institute, Dehradun participated in this trip.

In Uttarakhand, a four-day millet festival (Shri Ann Mahotsav) was held in Dehradun to create public awareness about the health benefits of coarse grain and deliberate on the state's potential to grow the crop in this category. Agriculture Ministers, scientists, and farmers from other States, including Union Agriculture Minister Narendra Tomar, had participated in Ann Mahotsav. The four-day deliberations were aimed at attracting more and more people towards millet production, which was to be doubled by 2025.

Uttarakhand's Agriculture Minister Ganesh Joshi had informed that there would be a discussion on the produce of millets in the festival. He had said that the farmers of the State would be encouraged to cultivate millet through this festival. Mr. Joshi had mentioned that the State government had made an arrangement of 73 crore rupees in that financial year for the promotion of millets. He had added that the aim of the government was that the farmers produced more coarse grains so that their economy could be strengthened.

On that occasion, 134 stalls had been put up as part of the Mahotsav by the Agriculture department, Agricultural universities, and other institutions engaged in Agricultural research.

Small-seeded grasses known as millets have been farmed for generations and are a valuable source of vitamins, minerals, fibre, and protein. However, in favour of other grains, they are frequently disregarded in contemporary diets. The Millet Festival seeks to dispel this myth and bring attention to millets' many advantages.

The festival's main goal was to teach students about the nutritional benefits of millet. Students gain knowledge about the numerous kinds of millet, their health advantages, and how to include them in regular meals through interactive seminars, workshops, and demonstrations. They learn about several millet-based cuisines and practice using millets in the kitchen. Students may choose their diets wisely and live better lives by studying the nutritional benefits of millet.

The festival's main goal was to teach students The Millet Festival emphasizes the value of millets in sustainable agriculture in addition to nourishment. Millets are renowned for their toughness and capacity to thrive in challenging environments with little water and chemical input. They are sustainable and kind to the environment since they use fewer resources than common cereals like rice and wheat. The festival hopes to educate people about sustainable agricultural methods and inspire students to think about how their food choices will affect the environment by promoting millets.

The festival's main goal was to teach students to participate in a variety of millets-related activities at the festival. They have the chance to go to shows that display various millet kinds, farming practices, and processing procedures. Students spoke with farmers and industry professionals to gain firsthand knowledge of the difficulties and advantages of millet farming.

The festival's organizers want to build awareness of environmental responsibility and advance sustainable farming methods by actively incorporating students in the festival. Students are urged to use the information they learn at the festival to campaign for millets in their neighborhoods. They can raise awareness of the nutritional advantages of millets, assist nearby millet growers, and even start millet-based programs in their communities or schools and colleges.

Outcomes

1. Our energetic group of students found the Millet Festival to be an exhilarating event. We set out on a tour that, in addition to revealing the beauties of millet, would give us a better understanding of its importance in our lives.
2. We were welcomed with an exciting exhibition of millet artifacts, historical records, and interactive exhibits as soon as we arrived at the festival grounds. Students learned how millet was essential to peoples' meals and way of life.
3. Students had an enriching and transforming time at the Millet Festival. We investigated millet's cultural significance, learned about its nutritional value, and appreciated its environmental advantages. As part of our efforts to promote a feeling of community and a dedication to elevating the significance of millet, we also interacted with millet farmers and specialists.

CODE CHRONICLE 24 Hrs HACKATHON

Objective:

The objective of the 24-hour college level hackathon is to provide a dynamic and collaborative platform for students to ideate, innovate, and develop practical solutions. The hackathon encourages the application of diverse skills, encourages learning, and promotes the spirit of innovation while fostering an environment of experimentation and learning.

Summary:

The 24-hour college-level hackathon is an intensive platform where students showcased their innovation and problem-solving abilities. The participants were given the freedom to choose problem statements from the Smart India Hackathon (SIH) or propose their own.

The event comprised two critical rounds: the initial round, where teams presented their ideas, highlighting their approach and ideologies, and the subsequent round, that focused on evaluating the functional prototypes or models developed.

To ensure a conducive environment, resting facilities were thoughtfully arranged, with the Dronacharya Block catering to the relaxation needs of female participants whereas, the Seminar Hall being provided for the male participants.

Amidst the rigorous timeline, the organizing committee arranged for a complimentary meal at 8 pm, offering a much-needed break for all participants. Additionally, a tea break at 10 pm sustained the energy and enthusiasm of the students, who dedicatedly continued working on their projects.

The hackathon witnessed a remarkable participation rate, resulting in the development of a diverse array of projects: 3 hardware projects and 25 software projects were conceptualized and crafted by the innovative teams.

The culminating moment of the event was The Award Honoring Ceremony held at 5 pm in the auditorium, where the efforts, creativity, and achievements of the participants were recognized and celebrated. The ceremony not only acknowledged the hard work of the students but also highlighted the essence of collaboration, innovation, and problem-solving skills exemplified during the hackathon.

Outcomes:

- The hackathon resulted in the development of 28 projects (3 hardware, 25 software), highlighting the participants' innovation and problem-solving skills within the 24-hour event.
- The hackathon provided a platform for students to apply their skills in ideation, teamwork, and rapid prototyping to address real-world problems either from the Smart India Hackathon problem statements or their self-chosen problem statements, fostering a culture of innovation and practical application within a constrained time frame.

Shri Ram Institute, Dehradun

If there is one campaign that will truly warm the cockles of your heart, will make you ponder upon how silly our gendered division of labor is and will redefine the ways we think and work- it's right here! PR is not just about bringing in the sales numbers, it's about establishing that connect with the audience/consumer. And, Ariel has done it superbly well! Before proceeding, it's worth watching these two short commercials that have been released under the #ShareTheLoad campaign.

Video URL - <https://youtu.be/wJukf4ifuKs>

Video URL- <https://youtu.be/8QDlv8kfwIM>

Target Audience: Men, Women, Children, Young, Old

Ariel did not settle for a narrow target audience. They wanted to touch base with everyone, regardless of their gender or age. They also target the two most important bonds that a human develops: That of a parent-child and that of a husband-wife.

One ad talks about a father apologizing to his daughter for just encouraging her to be independent but never not telling her that household chores are not just the responsibility of a woman. The second ad too has a mother introspecting how she has never taught her son to lend a hand at home. They're also hitting home with the recurring idea of 'ghar-ghar', a childhood game that's a part of almost every Indian's childhood. But have we been doing it right? Have we been wrongly conditioning our children with a positive reinforcement of the gendered and sexist game? Parents also realize that they themselves haven't been role models in this light, be it the father who has never helped in the household work, or be it the mother who never expected the son to help! The TV commercials were the best medium to reach out to the parent generation and the medium did serve it's purpose here too!

When it came to engaging with the youth, the millennial audience, who are not that invested in television or TV commercials, Ariel went ahead and launched an online campaign on it's Twitter and Instagram handle to propagate the cause. For instance, recently with Promise day coming in, Ariel launched a campaign where they encouraged the men to Show True Love and promise the women in their life that from now on, they will #ShareTheLoad. On Valentines day, similarly, they rolled out a #DateWithLaundry campaign, encouraging men to express their love not by buying gifts, but by changing their thinking and fostering a healthy habit of being equal contributors to all the household work.

Now, coming to the tiny tots, Ariel collaborated with Sesame street and the famous Indian cartoon Galli Galli Sim was used to spread the message of gender equality. This again is a much needed positive move in sensitizing the kids and conditioning them to become more egalitarian humans right from their childhood.

A Factual Backing:

While Ariel knew that it would nail the emotional connect bit with their campaign, they did not just stop there. For any audience/consumer to believe an advertisement, facts are always needed! And in this case, the facts presented were not Ariel related. They were laundry or household work related facts that pointed to the alarming nature of the gender disparity we live in.

Laundry Goes Odd-Even:

Yep, you guessed it right! This campaign was introduced in April 2016, when the Odd Even system was on in the capital. This odd even move to curb pollution was adopted in a completely different light here. Ariel laced this concept with #ShareTheLoad and delegated alternate days of work division. The message given was that you buy the Odd Even Ariel pack that comes with an Odd Even special calendar and you remind the men in your home of their share of work at home. Keeping up with the time and spontaneously using the situation to communicate your message is an essential part of Branding and PR process, something that Ariel did brilliantly!

Offline Engagement:

Ariel basically chased you wherever you went in order to remind you of their core message, be it social media, TV, YouTube or even the mall! Ariel has been very actively organizing offline events, inviting a few known faces and having a panel discussion around the topic of gender equality. The events were planned in a way where the audience too had something or the other to take home and share. The photobooths and information boards were extremely hard hitting and established Ariel's goodwill in every possible way! Bloggers and influencers from around the country are also invited to the event and they are further asked to spread the message.

Men #ShareTheLoad: The Social Impact!

The social impact of this campaign has been a huge hit! Social media has become a fur ball of joy with men, not just from India, but from around the world are sharing how they've started sharing the load. Another important point to be noted here is how even while Ariel is overtly pointing to the gravity of the situation by giving solidly researched statistics, it nonetheless mediates the effect by showing that there is always space to take the first step. It's never too late. In both their commercials too, they've ended the clips with the mother/father reversing the mistake and doing it right! In the course of establishing themselves as a brand fighting for a cause, they did not loose their product: Laundry in the campaign became symbolic of all the household chores that needed to be shared. Now Ariel for the Indian consciousness is not just a washing powder product, it's a cause, it's a feeling, its a sense of empowerment and this speaks volumes about the brilliantly executed branding of the product.

Sonali Dhawan, the MD of P&G India in conversation with ExchangeForMedia said:

I think I knew this was going to be the impact. I knew that in my heart, those who feel very passionately about the message will make a difference. When we were having this conversation on conditioning we realised that at the age of two we give our children an iPad but they unfortunately learn ABC from school textbooks that are so stereotyped where a doctor is represented by a man whereas a nurse is represented by a lady.

Integrated Case Study – 1

Subject-Auditing Course- B.COM (H)

Moon Group of companies is a retail chain involved in the selling of daily consumer needs directly to the customer. They are in the process of appointing an audit firm for the audit of their accounts for the financial year 2019-20. Moon Group is a South Indian based consumer store having a total of 16 outlets across 4 cities in South India.

Sumant & Co. is appointed as the principal auditor for the entire group. Companies Act, 2013 prescribes in detail the terms of this audit engagement. Further, there are many branch auditors appointed for the outlets in the other cities. The company also has an internal audit function conducted on quarterly basis by Ram & Co. Following are the observations during the course of the statutory audit:

- (a) One of the discounts offered by the store is in the form of payback cards where reward points are accumulated and the customer can redeem the same on subsequent purchase. The management and internal auditors are of the opinion that the points redeemed are to be treated as trade discount. The external auditors are doubtful on the matter.
- (b) One of the outlet in Chennai region is in the verge of getting closed and is only left with low value stock to be cleared before closure. During the year, the sales were only around Rs. 1,40,000 and the auditor considers this component immaterial. All other outlets are performing well with good revenue share.
- (c) The gratuity valuation of the employees of the retail chain is done by an external valuer. The auditor, considering the quantum involved appoints an external auditor's expert for the verification of the actuarial calculation of gratuity.

From the above facts, answer the following questions by choosing the correct answer:

Q.1 As per SA 210 - Agreeing the Terms of Audit Engagement, which of the following statement is correct?

- (a) Though law prescribes in sufficient detail the terms of the audit engagement, the auditor still needs to record them in a written agreement and also seek written agreement from management that it acknowledges and understands that it has responsibility for the preparation of financial statements.
- (b) Since law prescribes in sufficient detail the terms of the audit engagement, the auditor need not record them in a written agreement except for the fact that law or regulation applies and also seek written agreement from management that it acknowledges and understands that it has responsibility for the preparation of financial statements.
- (c) The auditor has to take an extract of the law prescribing the details of the terms of the audit engagement and obtain the counter signature of the management in it.
- (d) Though law prescribes in sufficient detail the terms of the audit engagement, the auditor still needs to record them in a written agreement, however it need not seek written agreement from management that it acknowledges and understands that it has responsibility for the preparation of financial statements.

Q.2 With respect to the treatment of discount on redemption of points in payback card, what should be the action of the external auditor?

- (a) The auditor can place reliance and go by the opinion of the branch auditor and internal auditor as they have only done a thorough and detailed audit of the accounts
- (b) The auditor can place reliance on the management's accounting policy as prima facie they are only responsible for preparation of financial statements.
- (c) The external auditor has sole responsibility for the audit opinion expressed and hence he should perform procedures to satisfy himself on the correct treatment and issue opinion accordingly.
- (d) The auditor can advise management on correct treatment but cannot qualify his opinion as branch auditor's opinion has higher authority than external auditor's opinion.

Q.3 What is the main objective of the external auditor, when he uses the work of the internal audit function of Ram & Co.?

- (a) To determine as to which areas, what extent the work can be used and whether that work is adequate for the purposes of the audit.
- (b) To appropriately direct, supervise and review the work of the internal audit function
- (c) Review the internal audit report and audit the areas not covered by the internal audit function
- (d) Enquire from management on the special points that arose during internal audit and follow up on the course of action on those points.

Q.4 The external auditor finds that the branch auditor of the outlet in the Chennai region, which is in the verge of closing down, is audited by an auditor who is not a member of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India. What should the external auditor do?

- (a) Since the professional competence of the auditor is in question, the external auditor should himself visit the premise and audit the accounts.
- (b) Since the financial statement of the component is immaterial, the provisions of SA 600 do not apply.
- (c) The auditor can rely on the financial statements of that component by obtaining written representation from management that the branch auditor is otherwise well qualified.
- (d) Since the professional competence of the auditor is in question, the external auditor should co-ordinate with the branch auditor and call for the books of account and other explanations.

Q.5 Which of these is not a factor affecting the external auditor's evaluation of the objectivity of the internal audit function?

- (a) Whether the organizational status of the internal audit function supports the ability of the function to be free from bias, conflict of interest or undue influence of others to override professional judgment.
- (b) Whether the internal audit function is free of any conflicting responsibilities.
- (c) Whether the internal auditors have adequate technical training and proficiency in auditing.
- (d) Whether those charged with governance oversee employment decisions related to internal audit function.

Mr. Ramesh hopes to be able to resolve the dispute amicably and has confirmed that he will discuss the matter with the finance director, Mr. Keshav, at the weekend, as they are both attending a party to celebrate the engagement of Ramesh's daughter and Keshav's son. XYZ (P) Ltd. RMT & Co. is the external auditor of XYZ (P) Ltd. and also provides other non-audit services to the company. 'CLEANLINESS DRIVE' BY TULA'S INSTITUTE AT ISBT
DEHRADUN, DEHRADUN

About Swachh Bharat Abhiyan

Cleanliness is next to Godliness. We've heard this phrase many times. But do we follow this? A lot of people don't, even though we should. However, some of us don't even respect the people who clean the trash. There are a lot of cons for not maintaining cleanliness. Cleanliness should be followed by everyone. Let's find out more about it.

Director
Tula's Institute, Dehradun

Cleanliness means that there is no dirt, no dust, no stains, no bad smells. The goals of cleanliness are health, beauty, absence of offensive odor and to avoid the spreading of dirt and contaminants to oneself and others.

With the help of cleanliness, we can keep our physical and mental health clean, which will make us feel good. Cleanliness gives rise to a good character by keeping body, mind, and soul clean and peaceful. Maintaining cleanliness is the essential part of healthy living because it is the cleanliness only which helps to improve our personality by keeping clean externally and internally.

It is everybody's responsibility, and one should keep themselves and their surroundings clean and hygienic. It also brings good and positive thoughts in the mind which slows down the occurrence of diseases.

Cleanliness Drive by the student of Tula's Institute

On 2nd April 2023, a cleanliness drive was conducted at the ISBT (Inter-State Bus Terminal) in Dehradun, Uttarakhand. The drive was organized by the National Service Scheme (NSS) students of Tula's Institute in collaboration with Shri Nityanand Swami Jan Seva Samiti. The aim of the drive was to promote cleanliness and hygiene in the public transport hub, which serves thousands of commuters daily.

Over 15 students from Tula's Institute participated in the drive. They were joined by volunteers from the Jan Seva Samiti. The students were divided into groups and were provided with gloves, masks, and garbage bags. The groups were assigned different areas of the ISBT to clean up.

The students worked tirelessly for over two hours, picking up garbage. The volunteers were surprised by the amount of garbage they collected. Over 150 kg of garbage was collected during the drive. The garbage included plastic bottles, food wrappers, paper cups, and cigarette butts.

The drive not only helped in making the ISBT cleaner but also raised awareness about the importance of cleanliness and hygiene among the commuters. The students and volunteers also interacted with the commuters and educated them on the importance of disposing of garbage properly.

Importance of Blood Donation

Director
Tula's Institut., Dehradun

TULA'S INSTITUTE, DEHRADUN

Each day, thousands of people need donated blood and blood products to keep them in good health or allow them to stay alive.

If a person's blood levels fall due to an accident or illness, or if their blood is not functioning properly, there will not be enough oxygen or other nutrients to maintain their vital organs. Donating whole blood can help these people.

A similar process to whole blood donation is apheresis. This provides other blood components, such as platelets. A donation of platelets can help people who have issues related to clotting. It may also provide antibodies to help fight disease, such as COVID-19.

Giving blood can be a lifesaving action, but it may also have benefits for the donor. In this article, learn about the effects of giving blood.

Objectives of Blood Donation Camp

1. Provide safe and quality blood and blood components collected from voluntary donors, round the clock, at an affordable cost to the general public, and free of cost to the poor. Ensure the safety and quality of blood.
2. To wipe off the scarcity of blood and ensure the availability of safe and quality blood and other blood components, round the clock and throughout the year. This will lead to the alleviation of human suffering, even in the far-flung remote areas in the country

Summary (Press Release)

Tula's Institute, Dehradun, organized a blood donation camp on November 26 2022 in collaboration with NCC and NSS, with joint efforts of IMA Blood Bank, Uttrakhand. The students, faculty, and staff of the college volunteered for this noble cause and about 200 units of blood were collected.

This event was inaugurated by Dr. Raghav Garg, VP of Technology, Dr. Nishant Saxena, Dean of Academics, Dr. Pawan Kumar Chaubey, Registrar, and Dr. Ranit Kishore Dean of Agriculture and Management.

More than 100 students volunteered in donating blood.

The donors were given certificates, refreshments, and gifts after blood donation.

Overall, the drive turned out to be a success wherein all the faculties and students donated blood with full enthusiasm and courage.

Outcome:

1. Community Engagement: Blood donation camps often engage the broader community, including students, faculty, staff, and local residents. By participating in the camp, individuals demonstrate solidarity and compassion for those in need, fostering a sense of community and social responsibility.

2. Health Awareness: Blood donation camps also serve as an opportunity to raise awareness about the importance of regular blood donations and the impact they can have on saving lives. Educational materials and discussions at the camp can help dispel myths and misconceptions about blood donation and encourage more people to become regular donors.

3. Promotion of Volunteerism: Organizing and staffing a blood donation camp requires volunteers to assist with various tasks, such as registration, donor screening, and refreshments. Participation in these volunteer roles can promote a sense of civic duty and encourage individuals to engage in future volunteer opportunities within their community.
